CITY OF NORTH BEND

BUSINESS BULLETIN

QUARTERLY NEWSLETTER

October
2021

Striving to support a strong local economy and the unique character of the North Bend community.

Quarterly Message from the Mayor

Happy Fall. This is one of the most beautiful times of the year in the Snoqualmie Valley and I hope you're enjoying the colors all around us. The changing colors are a reminder that we are heading into our stormy season when the rain and our notorious gap winds return. I encourage you to help our Public Works Department by ensuring falling leaves don't block storm drains in your neighborhood. Your neighbors and your streets will thank you.

Here at City Hall, we're back to business as usual. If you remember from my last quarterly update, we reopened City Hall to the public in July. We were one of the earliest cities in our region to accomplish this and were happy to welcome the community and staff back to the building. Yes, we still have to mask up, but we have found it to be a small price in our return to a new normal in serving the community.

Due to the Delta variant, we have not yet returned to in-person City Council, committee and commission meetings. As we've learned throughout the pandemic, flexibility is our friend. We hope to transition to hybrid in-person/online meetings in the coming months, but until then we will continue to utilize virtual platforms. In the meantime, planning and training for those hybrid meetings is underway – and we appreciate the silver lining in knowing that future hybrid meetings will allow for increased flexibility.

As we move into the last quarter of 2021, we wanted to highlight and share with you City accomplishments that occurred during the past quarter.

Infrastructure

Summer is an active time for road improvement projects in the City of North Bend and this year was no exception. Our Public Works Department was busy overseeing many projects that will make getting around town easier, including a new roundabout at the intersection of North Bend Way and 436th Avenue which is scheduled to wrap up in mid-November; new roadway surfacing on Park Street between Bendigo Blvd and North Bend Way;

Deer family at City Hall

New roadway surface on Park Street and new channelization striping on Tanner Road. In addition, several transportation capital projects are being engineered such as the roundabout at Bendigo Blvd. and Mt. Si Blvd.

Over the summer, Phase 2 of the Wastewater Treatment Plant High Priorities Improvement Project was contracted, concurrently with engineering and permitting. The project is expected to take two years and when complete in late 2023, will add capacity and redundancy, improve employee safety, increase treatment and hydraulic capacities, replace aging facilities and make important environmental updates that meet strict Department of Ecology requirements to protect the environment and Snoqualmie River.

We are close to finishing work on the Hobo Springs Water Mitigation Expansion project. A new pump will increase the available supply of mitigation water. As I've mentioned before, we continue evaluating other multiple long-term mitigation water options to meet all future requirements of our Centennial Well Water Right.

The City recently completed a Water Distribution System Leak Study which identified approximately 35 leaks, the majority of which have already been repaired. The remaining are targeted to be repaired by the end of the year. And our crews continue replacing aging water meters in older neighborhoods to help reduce water loss.

We are firmly committed to being good stewards of our local environment, an effort we know many of you join us in. In addition to our leak repairs and mitigation efforts to protect in-stream flows of the Snoqualmie River, the second year of our Water Conservation Ordinance has been successful – something made possible only through your efforts. Additionally, the City joined Seattle Public Utilities Saving Water Partnership, which offers water saving tools and tips, along with valuable rebates, to help us with our year-round conservation efforts. As a City, we feel our water conservation policies set a standard for surrounding cities and thank all of you for partnering with us.

Community Development Projects

So, what's going on around town when it comes to development? There are some projects you may see in construction stages and others still in planning stages. As stated in our Economic Development Goals, these projects will bring jobs, services and housing diversity to our City.

Sitework continues on the Cade Vu condominium project on E. Park Street. These are the first new condos built in the City in approximately 25 years.

Councilmembers Koellen and Miller at Habitat Launch

Habitat for Humanity recently held the official launch of its new North Bend community called Taylor Town. I was honored to speak at the event and along with your Council, am pleased that this new affordable housing community will provide homes to seven deserving families.

Work on the North Bend Way & 436th roundabout

In the eastern part of town, sitework continues on the Cedar River Partners project that will bring 212 new multi-family rental homes. The new roundabout at North Bend Way and 436th is being built by this project's developer to mitigate associated traffic. Next year, a new 4-acre City park – called Dahlgren Family Park – will be constructed on adjacent donated land that will have direct access to Tanner Landing Park with its Snoqualmie River access for outdoor enthusiasts.

Future site of Dahlgren Family Park

Karakoram close to completion with construction

On the business front, Karakoram, a local snowboard binding company, moved into its new headquarters on North Bend Way behind Napa Auto Parts, and construction commenced on the new King County Loop Facility near Truck Town.

As I'm sure you've heard, a dual-brand Wyndham Hotel has been proposed by a private developer inside the Outlet Mall, located where the Vanity Fair store is situated. The project – which includes 91 rooms under the La Quinta brand and 31 under the Hawthorn brand – is in planning review.

North view drawing of design plans for Wyndham Hotel

Puget Sound Energy is in planning review for a new natural gas workforce training facility. The project located near Nintendo also includes a 72,000 sq. ft. conference center. Planning review is also underway for multiple light industrial/commercial businesses, including SeaCon, Alpentel Logistics and Bio-Therapeutics, a medical device maker that is looking to relocate from Seattle to our beautiful city.

Budget

The Finance Department has been busy working on the Mid-biennium adjustment to the 2021-22 Biennial Budget adopted by your Council in late 2020. Unlike last year when we were faced with revenue declines and cutbacks related to the pandemic, this year revenue sources are strong, pivoting in the right direction. In fact, sales tax revenue, which is a major source of our general fund, is exceeding our forecasts. As the economy continues to rebound, the trends in 2021 have been positive, putting us in a much better place than we were just one year ago.

City Council Legislation Wins State Award

Some great news to share: Council legislation adopting Form-based Code for our Downtown Commercial zone was honored by Gov.

Inslee and the Dept. of Commerce with a Smart Communities Award in the Smart Project category. The award-winning North Bend Downtown Commercial Zone project – undertaken by our Planning Department – included innovative form-based code to ensure future redevelopment fits the character of the community and provides more housing options. This is a huge honor for our City and was a collaborative effort of your elected officials and our hard-working staff.

Community Engagement

As we adjust to living in this ongoing pandemic, we're discovering – thanks to vaccinations and public health safety measures – that we can continue our near-normal lives. Here in North Bend zip code 98045, approximately 76% of us are now fully vaccinated and 81% have begun the COVID-19 vaccination process. We're still wearing our masks, but that seems a small sacrifice if it means we can come together as a community on a regular basis, send our children back to the classroom, join our friends for a dinner out at a favorite restaurant, or cheer on our favorite team.

This summer these measures allowed us, in partnership with community organizations, to hold events such as the Meadowbrook Drive-in and Sip, Suds & [Little] Si, which was a well-attended, successful fundraiser for the North Bend Downtown Foundation. And mark your calendars, on October 16 the North Bend Blues Walk returns with 17 downtown venues and 22 bands. Then on October 30th, Trick or Treat Street returns with over 40 participating downtown businesses. This year the popular event will run in tandem with Si View Park's Harvest Festival, making the day even more spirited for our youngest residents. Holly Days and Light up North Bend will return in December to make the season extra bright. Watch the City website for more details.

As you might have guessed, positivity is in the air here at City Hall. Your City Council, myself, and staff remain dedicated to the livability and character of our small mountain town. It is our unique community that makes North Bend a desirable place to call home and also attracts new families and businesses. We continually strive to make improvements – while at the same time respecting Citizens' voices and our City's history – that we hope enhance your daily lives. This City is our job, and the work of serving our community is something we feel lucky to do.

Sincerely,

Mayor Rob

A Letter from the North Bend Downtown Foundation

Greetings North Bend Friends and Neighbors,

October has arrived! Crisp, clean air, vivid hues of scarlet (GO WILDCATS), golden yellows and orange. You know what your NBDF loves most about fall? The gathering of community, storefronts blooming with new décor and enticing shop local promotions – your hard work beautifies our downtown and brings so much joy to residents and visitors alike.

With that, your NBDF is dedicated to investing in the success of Downtown North Bend by creating a vibrant and thriving community. We, alongside the City of North Bend, have been hard at work, welcoming an exciting return to community events in North Bend! In late August, the NBDF hosted a wonderful Sip Suds & (Little) Si, with 10 participating venues, lots of local art and music! Community feedback was overwhelmingly positive, and we hope that hosting this event during the shoulder season helped provide your business with an economic boost.

We are now, alongside 47 of you, prepping for a full and spirited Trick-Or-Treat Street on October 30th! From 2 – 6PM, local businesses and nonprofit organizations will be open, receiving little goblins, ghosts and all sorts of colorful creatures at doorsteps and outdoor stations. Sheyenne Leonard and The Latona Family Band will be performing live downtown at the Headquarters station, located at 116 W

North Bend Way, and we are working on one more live music location for music along the walk right now.

Our participating businesses and merchants will be dressing up and showing off their storefronts and stations, as the NBDF Merchant Contest will be BACK! This year's local judges will be touring participating businesses from 2-4PM so please, get your spooky team and storefront ready! Trophies will be awarded for Most Spirited Decor, Best Dressed Team, and People's Choice.

Finally, we will end 2021 with a series of SHOP LOCAL campaigns and our annual outdoor HOLLY DAYS FESTIVAL, on Saturday, December 4th. Mark your calendars...

November 26: BLACK FRIDAY
November 27: SHOP SMALL SATURDAY
November 28: ARTIST SUNDAY
November 29: CYBER MONDAY
November 30: GIVING TUESDAY

Your NBDF is a volunteer-driven organization centered around North Bend's business community. We play a significant role in shaping the image of Downtown North Bend, and we want your voice to be heard, too. If you aren't yet, please consider joining your NBDF. This fall, we are in search of new members!

Want to play a part in beautifying your downtown? We'd love to welcome you to the NBDF Design Committee!

Are you a local influencer that wants to increase support of events, programs, businesses and more? Please join our Promotion Committee!

Do you enjoy delving into hyper local economic development, playing a part in growing our town? If so, the Economic Vitality Committee is for you!

What will Trick-Or-Treat Street Look Like This Year?

Fingers and toes are crossed for a crisp and sunny Trick-Or-Treat Street on October 30th... Rain or shine, we feel confident that families will be out and about, full of Halloween spirit. Read on for tips, other activities and more!

October 30th and 31st will be BUSY, with Si View Metro Parks' annual Harvest Festival on Saturday, from 12 - 4PM, Northwest Railway Museum's Halloween Excursion train ride on Saturday and Sunday and Valley Center Stage's "She Kills Monsters" stage reading by Qui Nyugen on Saturday at 7:30PM!

Trick-Or-Treat Street will be different from the 2020 "Quarantine-O-Ween," where folks turned in pre-bagged treats that were handed out at tables outside, and searched for an elusive (very cute) fox. This year, we return to the OG Trick-Or-Treat Street. Families will be walking through town, stopping at participating business and nonprofits' storefronts or outdoor tables and tents – depending on what groups have chosen to do – and trick-or-treating with them.

Streets will not be closed, but sidewalks will likely be very busy. Signage will be out, reminding drivers to slow down and reminding folks to wear masks.

Signage will also be placed out that reminds visitors of the King County Health Order that takes effect on October 25th. Check out the KC Toolkit for information about the order. Also, King County notes that businesses and events that are included in the vaccination verification/negative COVID-19 test verification are required to post a poster, that can be found here. Please make sure you confirm whether or not your business is subject to this new Health Order.

This free community event does not fall within the category that must check for COVID-19 or negative COVID-19 test verification, but any participating business that falls within the Health Order must still check as the Order requires, should they invite customers/trick-or-treaters inside their storefront.

Headquarters will be at 116 W North Bend Way, under a large tent. Live music will include Sheyenne Leonard from 2 – 4 PM and The Latona Family Band from 4 – 6 PM, with more live music at the NBDF-sponsored tent that will be near the Snoqualmie Valley Historical Museum and Wells Fargo!

Are you a participating business or nonprofit? Bre Keveren dropped off supplemental candy and "TRICK OR TREAT HERE" posters this week. Please post in your storefront door or window today! This poster serves as a marker for kids. Only participating businesses and nonprofits get these posters. The map has been pre-published as well, and we will continue marketing online that you are participating! Please consider doing the same, by tagging one another, sharing the website, and also the Facebook event page.

The NBDF is bringing back the much loved MERCHANT CONTEST! Three local judges will be visiting participants, in search of winners in the following categories:
Best Dressed Team
Most Spirited Display
People's Choice Awards:
Voted on by the public.
Participants stop by Headquarters and write down their vote anonymously.

Hair Ink, Best Dressed Team, 2019

REMAX, Most Spirited Display, 2019

Edward Jones Financial Advisor Jason Glazier opened at 530 E North Bend Way, Suite 103 in the Phoenix Plaza in February of this year.

On September 22nd they officially celebrated their opening with the SnoValley Chamber, City officials, the Downtown Foundation and community. "Living where I work is an investment in my community," said Jason.

Thank you, Edward Jones team!

North Bend Honored with State Award for Form-Based Code

Gov. Jay Inslee and Washington State Dept. of Commerce Director Lisa Brown recently announced Smart Community Award winners for 2020-21, including honoring the City of North Bend with the Smart Project Award for the City's adoption of Form-Based Code for its Downtown Commercial Zone.

The award-winning North Bend Downtown Commercial Zone project included a new form-based code to ensure future redevelopment fits the character of the community and provides more housing options. Form-based code is a land development regulation that fosters predictable built results and a high-quality public outcome by using physical form, rather than separation of uses, as its organizing principle. The new code was adopted by the City Council in June 2021.

Mayor Rob McFarland commented, "Thank you to the State for recognizing the important and innovative work of our Planning Department, led by Community and Economic Development Director Rebecca Deming. Her team strives day in-and-out to implement thoughtful policies to balance the need for jobs, services and housing while adhering to Growth Management Act mandates and carefully managing how North Bend grows."

"It's great to be recognized for the work done by the City," said CED Director Rebecca Deming, "It wouldn't be possible without the Mayor or the City Council. I'm looking forward to seeing the plan implemented and downtown growing as a social, cultural and entertainment destination." Read the full press release here.

'TIS THE SEASON: Holiday Decor Prepped for Downtown Installation in November

Your Public Works Department is prepping for a cold, blustery, beautiful holiday season, full of lights, snowflakes and decor for our downtown.

You may have noticed street tree lights being strung on all North Bend Way trees that contain outlets this month. Within the coming weeks, you will see more activity, as the PW Team install snowflakes, and folks downtown installing garland and more lights. Soon, the search for a donated Community Tree will commence, and we look forward to lighting it at the Holly Days Tree Lighting on December 4th!

Please Join Us for Arbor Day Tree Planting Event

The City of North Bend proclaims October 29th as Arbor Day 2021 and invites citizens to a community tree planting event beginning at 3PM along the South Fork Snoqualmie River Levy, between the City's wastewater treatment plant and the river.

Join Mayor Rob McFarland, City Staff, Mountains to Sound Greenway Trust staff, and community volunteers to plant native trees and shrubs to help restore a healthy forested canopy along the river, currently occupied by invasive blackberry, ivy, and holly which are being removed.

Tools and gloves will be provided. Volunteers should dress appropriate and bring their own water and snacks if desired. Due to COVID-19, masks will be required, and participants will be asked to provide social distancing. Click here for more.
